

Housing

Portland Housing

Share Collection

Who can afford to live in Portland?

Most of us are living with the reality of a city that has become dramatically more expensive than the Portland of five or ten years ago. But Portland's housing crisis looks different depending on who you are (and where you are). Explore how the city and its neighborhoods have changed over time, from the perspective of 12 representative households. How does your story of the housing crisis compare with those of your neighbors living in households unlike your own?

Map Your Affordability

Household Wages

Unit Size

Single Bedroom

See How Other Portlanders Compare

Demographic

Single Parent

Unit Size

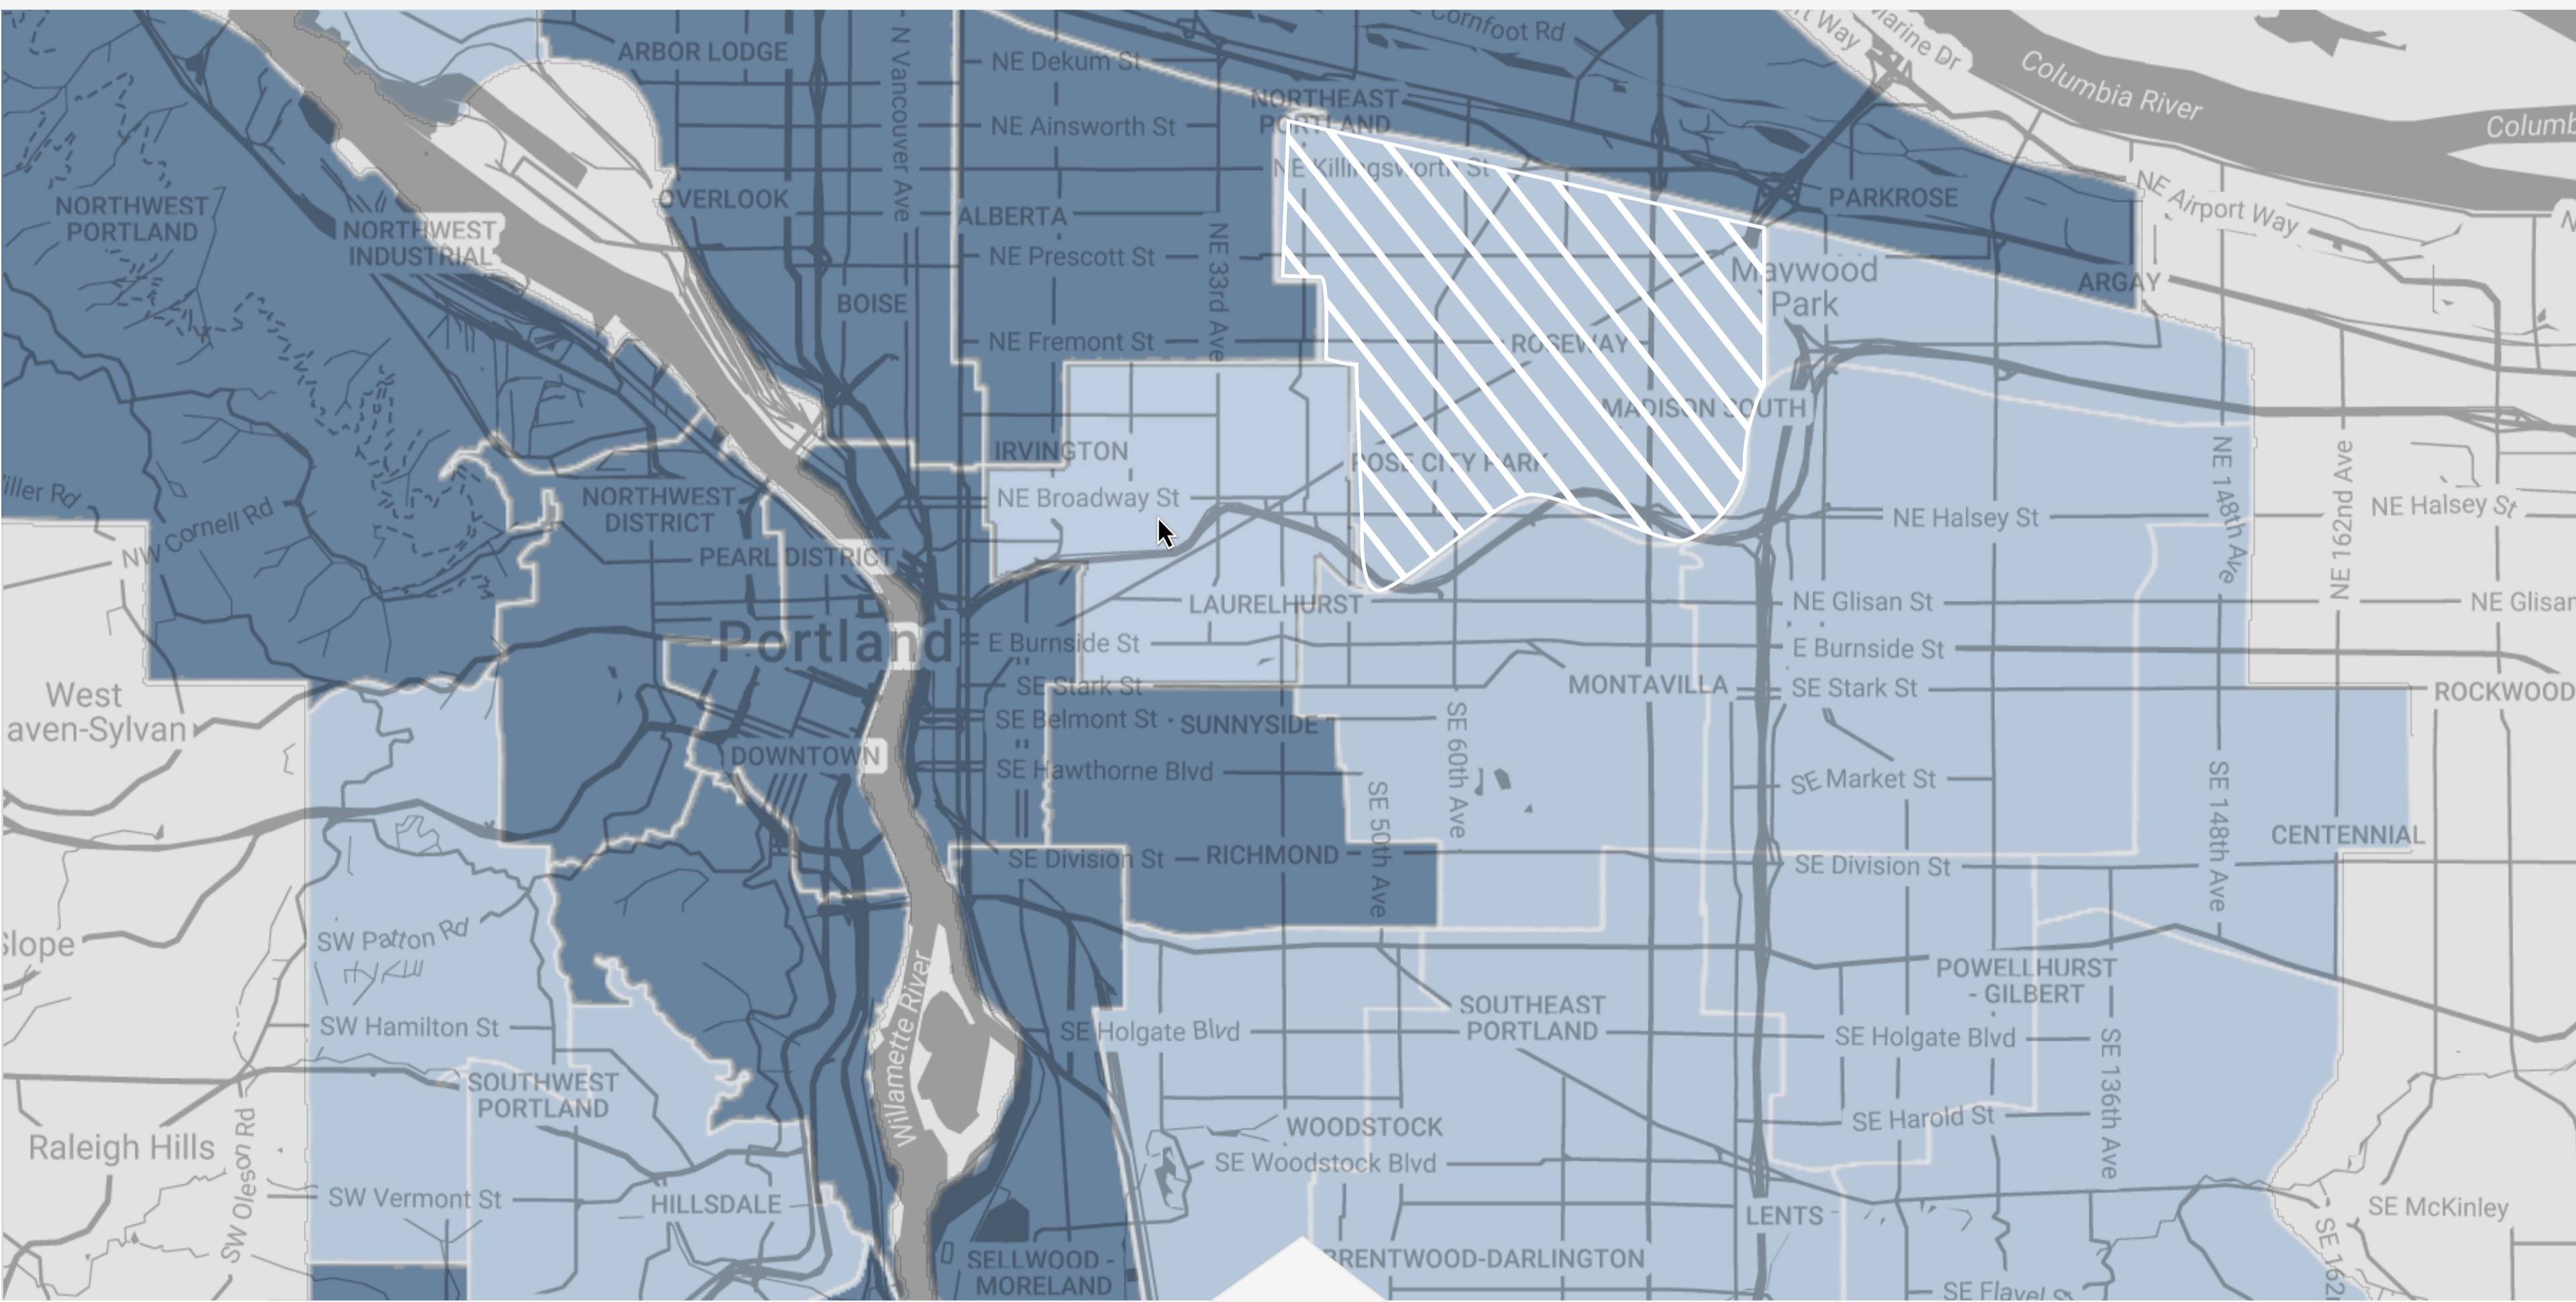

Single Bedroom

Your Affordability

Yes No

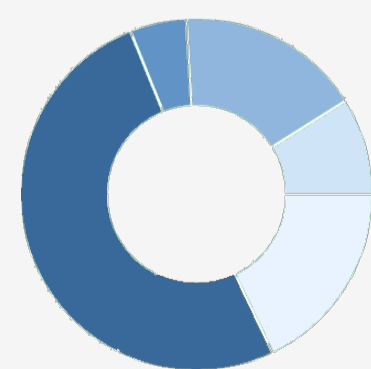

Other's Affordability

Yes No

Irvington Neighborhood Stats

Race/Ethnicity

- White
- Black
- Asian
- Hispanic
- Native American

Household Totals

65,579 Single Person Households

34,542 Households With Children

Vulnerable Populations

12,828 Foreign Born

3,832 Persons with Disabilities

5,912 65 & Older

View Context and Sources

Copy link for sharing